Thursday Morning Prayer Gathering

"This kind can come out only through prayer." – Mark 9:29

These are the words Jesus spoke to his disciples after they had struggled to help a boy tormented by an unclean spirit. His words remind us of the fundamental and essential role prayer plays in God's work among us.

If we truly believe in a living God who is present and active in our daily lives, prayer should be at the heart of the church community. Yet, unfortunately, many churches—especially many denominational churches—have gradually lost the practice of praying together. During my years of pastoral ministry in the United States, I have witnessed signs of this decline in communal prayer. In many churches, there is little conversation about prayer experiences or prayer life because prayer is often considered something personal and private. Yet the Bible teaches us that prayer is not only personal; it is also communal. In some churches, gatherings devoted simply to prayer have disappeared to the point that the idea of meeting together just to pray can now feel unfamiliar or even uncomfortable.

Throughout the Gospels, however, Jesus shows us through both his teaching and his example how crucial prayer is. When Jesus cleansed the temple, driving out the merchants and overturning their tables, he declared:

"My house shall be called a house of prayer." – Matthew 21:13

Our church leaders and I have been thinking and talking about ways to revitalize the prayer life of our congregation and to make Jesus' words a living reality in our church. After many conversations and much brainstorming, we came to one simple conclusion: Let's gather and begin praying together.

Rather than beginning with another campaign or study about prayer, we believe the best way to strengthen our prayer life is simply to begin praying with those who are willing. Prayer is not something we learn only by talking about it. We learn to pray by praying.

Ultimately, God alone can renew the church, and God works through the prayers of God's people. This is what we see in the early church in the book of Acts: believers gathered together, prayed together, and opened themselves to the work of the Holy Spirit.

Beginning Thursday, October 8, at 8:30 AM, we will gather every Thursday morning in the sanctuary for prayer. We will sit together in a small circle, read a short passage of Scripture, and reflect on it through conversation. Then we will share prayer concerns from our church and community. Afterward, we will spread out throughout the sanctuary and spend time in personal prayer, accompanied by quiet Christian piano music.

I know some of you may feel a little uncomfortable or intimidated by this kind of gathering, even though you deeply believe that prayer is essential to our faith. If that describes you, I simply encourage you to come and give it a try. Come, sit with other members of our church family, listen, reflect, and pray. Sometimes we learn something important not simply by studying it, but by practicing it. Prayer is one of those things.

Let us become more fully what Jesus calls the church to be: a house of prayer.

New Sermon Series: "Discipleship"

Making disciples is the primary mission of the church. Many of you are probably familiar with this idea because our denomination—and I as your pastor—have emphasized it often. You can also find this language throughout our church, including in our bulletin and on our church signs.

But making disciples does not simply mean inviting other people to follow Jesus. It also means allowing ourselves to become more like Jesus by learning and practicing his way of life. In fact, the second part may be even more important than the first, because one of the most powerful ways we can invite others to follow Jesus is by showing through our own lives what it means to follow him. From this perspective, discipleship—believing in and following Jesus—is deeply connected to our everyday lives.

In reality, however, many Christians separate their spiritual or church life from their daily and personal life. Faith becomes one area of life that we call "religion." This can lead to what people sometimes call "Sunday Christianity"—a way of living in which coming to worship once a week is considered the main religious responsibility, while offerings, service, and participation in church activities become occasional obligations. In this kind of Christianity, people think about God and their spiritual life while they are at church, but once they leave the church building, they return to living according to their own plans, priorities, and desires—as though God remains behind at church.

I do not believe that this description fully represents us. Yet it is still worth asking ourselves some challenging questions. Are we completely free from these tendencies? Do we take the way of Jesus seriously enough to allow it to shape every part of our daily lives? Do we ask what God's way looks like in our homes, families, schools, workplaces, relationships, and communities? Do our daily routines reflect the way of Jesus? If we cannot confidently answer "yes" to all of these questions, it does not mean that we are terrible Christians. It simply means that there is still room for us to grow as followers of Jesus. And growth is an essential part of discipleship.

For this reason, I have prepared a new sermon series for October and November called "Discipleship." Through this series, I hope we will have an opportunity to return to some of the most basic and important elements of our spiritual journey and consider them through the lens of everyday life. We will explore questions such as: What does it really mean to follow Jesus in our daily lives? What is the relationship between Jesus, who lived two thousand years ago, and my life today? What does it mean to have faith in God? How can prayer shape and transform our daily lives? How can reading the Bible become more than simply gaining knowledge and instead help us become more like Christ?

This fall, I invite you to explore with me the deeper meaning of following Jesus—not only on Sundays, but in every part of our daily lives. Let us continue growing together as disciples of Jesus Christ.

Discipleship Course: “Alpha”

Preaching is one of the traditional and powerful ways the church teaches about God and the way of God. However, preaching alone is not always enough to transform our lives. Because preaching is primarily a one-way form of communication, people may not always have enough opportunity to reflect deeply on how God’s message connects with their own lives—especially in our busy and noisy world.

When it comes to discipleship—following the way of Jesus in our daily lives—conversation is especially important. Each person’s life situation, questions, struggles, and experiences are different. We need opportunities not only to listen, but also to reflect, ask questions, and learn from one another.

For this reason, I have decided to offer a small-group discipleship course called “Alpha” for those who are interested in thinking more deeply about what it means to follow Jesus. Alpha is a video-based course that explores some of the fundamental questions of life and faith, including the meaning of life, faith, Jesus, the Bible, prayer, and the Holy Spirit. Rather than simply giving participants a long lecture, Alpha raises meaningful questions and encourages honest conversation and personal reflection.

The course was originally designed for people who are curious about Christianity, new to the Christian faith, or unsure about what they believe. However, I have found that it can also be very helpful for longtime Christians who want to revisit the foundations of their faith and renew their spiritual journey.

I have not yet finalized the exact starting date and time. Tentatively, I am considering Sundays at 11:00 AM, beginning in mid-October. I will share more detailed information before the course begins. There is no required reading or preparation in advance. All you need is an open mind, a willing spirit, and a desire to grow in faith. Each session will last about one hour.

If you are interested in joining this discipleship course, please sign up on the sheet in the narthex.

October Worship

On the first Sunday of the month, October 4, we will celebrate World Communion Sunday. On this special Sunday, we remember and celebrate the unity of the worldwide church around Christ’s table, transcending differences of nation, culture, language, race, and denomination. To make this celebration especially meaningful, we will share Holy Communion in both English and Spanish, with Rev. Eliud Martinez joining Pastor Ho Lee in serving at the Lord’s Table. To highlight our unity in diversity, the Communion elements will include traditional Latin American food and drink.

On the third Sunday, October 18, we will celebrate Laity Sunday. The United Methodist Church recognizes that ministry belongs not only to pastors, but to all God’s people. Traditionally, the third Sunday of October is set aside to celebrate the important ministry and calling of the laity. As part of this celebration, we will have a special recognition of lay ministry, and Lay Preacher Denise Shaffer will bring the message. On the same Sunday, we will also joyfully welcome Jeff and Lisa O. as new members of Covenant UMC after they complete the New Member Class.

On the last Sunday of the month, October 25, our Sunday School children will take part in a special offering for UNICEF. During Children's Time, the children will collect coins from the congregation using their Trick-or-Treat for UNICEF boxes. This has become a new Halloween tradition at Covenant since 2024. Please remember to bring some coins to church that Sunday! If you would like, you are also welcome to bring some candy to share with the children after worship in the Fellowship Hall. In fact, some of our children are already looking forward to it!

Small Group Ministry Update:

Trillium Small Group to Visit State Park and Crane Center

Trillium, a small group focused on God and nature, plans monthly outdoor excursions open to the congregation, including family or friends. Next up:

History of High Cliff State Park, Saturday, September 26. Attend a program by a park naturalist detailing the fascinating history of the land occupied by the current state park along the shore of Lake Winnebago near Sherwood, WI. Enjoy also the views and the huge statue of Winnebago tribal leader Red Bird. Depart from church at 11 a.m., sack lunch at noon, and program starts at 1 p.m. No signup needed, but contact the church office if transportation is needed. An admission sticker or daily vehicle fee is required to enter the park. This event is ADA accessible.

Crane Discovery Center at the International Crane Foundation, Saturday, October 24, near Baraboo, WI. Enjoy the autumn colors on the drive, then see and learn about the cranes and work of this highly reputable organization. This date is their "Good Neighbor Day," when the usual $14.50 admission fee is waived with the donation of a non-perishable (human) food item, to be utilized at an area food pantry. After sack lunch, consider adding on an optional afternoon visit to sites in the area, such as nearby Wisconsin Dells, Devil's Lake State Park, or the free Wisconsin River ferry at Merrimac. Leave church at 9 a.m. and don't forget a sack lunch. This event is also fully ADA accessible.

Need more info? Feel free to contact the church office, Jeff Strong, or Bill Dekker.

Food and Fellowship

Our September meeting will be on September 23rd. We will be enjoying Pizza from Poco Pizza. This will be another simple and low cleanup meal for us. That just gives us more time to talk and share. Although dinner at Sebastian's was a great meal, we did have to behave ourselves. I am sure our conversation will be a little louder and probably involve the Brewers and maybe the Packers. I really wish there would be another small group whether it involves food or not.

Game Night

We had another great turnout for Game Night. Tom brought his famous cinnamon sugar doughnuts and I used my friends to try out a new recipe, Maple Pecan Goopy Bars. Both were a hit. We had a good discussion about how to proceed. I wanted to have Game Night on a regular basis so it will be on the third Tuesday of the month. I asked if the darkness will cause any challenges.

Since many of our friends come from Portland Square, it did seem a concern. So our next events will be on October 20th and November 17th. We will take the month of December off because we are all so busy. I want to take this time to thank my fellow committee members who help by providing door prizes, posters and delicious treats: Tom Retzleff, Jeff Strong, Jan Andrews and Mary Balson. We are a well-oiled machine and I am so very grateful. Now that you can plan a little in advance, I hope you will consider joining us.

Church Council The Importance of Intentional Faith Development in a Church

Intentional faith development is one of the most vital commitments a church can make. It is the difference between a congregation that simply gathers and one that grows — spiritually, relationally, and missionally. When a church invests in purposeful, well-designed opportunities for people to deepen their faith, it strengthens the entire body of Christ.

- 1. It nurtures lifelong disciples, not occasional participants: Faith does not mature by accident. People grow when they are invited, encouraged, and guided. Intentional faith development gives structure to that growth — helping children, youth, and adults move from curiosity to commitment, from belief to practice, from attending church to living as disciples.
- 2. It equips people to navigate real-life challenges: Life brings seasons of joy, grief, uncertainty, and change. A church that prioritizes faith development gives people the tools to face those seasons with resilience: Scripture knowledge, prayer practices, spiritual disciplines, and a community that walks with them. Without intentional growth, faith can remain fragile; with it, faith becomes a source of strength.

3. It deepens biblical understanding and theological wisdom: People long for a faith that makes sense — one that can wrestle with hard questions, interpret Scripture faithfully, and connect belief with daily life. Classes, small groups, Bible studies, and mentoring relationships help believers move beyond surface-level understanding into a richer, more grounded faith.
4. It strengthens the church's mission and ministries: A spiritually growing congregation is a serving congregation. When people develop their faith, they discover gifts, passions, and callings. They step into leadership, volunteer with purpose, and support ministries with clarity and joy. Intentional faith development fuels the church's ability to serve its community.
5. It builds authentic Christian community: Faith grows best in relationships. Small groups, study circles, prayer gatherings, and intergenerational learning create spaces where people listen, share, encourage, and challenge one another. These relationships become the backbone of a healthy church and places where people are known, supported, and spiritually nourished.
6. It honors the diversity of spiritual journeys: People come to church with different backgrounds, questions, and needs. Intentional faith development recognizes that growth is not one-size-fits-all. It offers varied pathways — studies, mentoring, retreats, service opportunities, worship experiences — so that each person can grow in ways that fit their season of life.
7. It keeps the church focused on its core purpose: Churches can easily become busy without becoming fruitful. Intentional faith development keeps the congregation centered on what matters most: forming disciples of Jesus Christ. It ensures that programs, ministries, and decisions all support spiritual growth rather than distraction.

Missions

We begin the first two weeks of October (the 4th and 11th) with the loose offering going to the Banana Project. The Men's group delivers bananas to five of our nine elementary schools every Monday morning during the school year. It connects our church to the community and provides a bit of nutrition. This is an expensive mission and can use our help.

The loose offering for October 18th and 25th will go to Sleep in Heavenly Peace (SHP). Their motto is "No kid sleeps on the floor in our town!" They are an organization that builds twin beds for children, ages 3-17, who would otherwise have to sleep on the floor. Community groups or corporate sponsors build the beds, and then other groups donate bedding or money to purchase the mattresses and bedding. For many of these children, it is the first time they have had a bed to sleep on. Since the Fond du Lac chapter began in 2021, they have built 1600 beds. Each bed costs approximately $300 (this includes the mattress and bedding). Our Fond du Lac chapter, which now includes Dodge County, has never had to purchase bedding because of donations. They estimate the cost of the bedding to be about $50. Let's donate enough money for at least 10 sets of bedding and make Marilynn Roessler smile down at us from Heaven. She is the person who brought this project to missions when they first opened the FDL branch.

On Sunday, October 25th, we will once again have a special offering for UNICEF. The United Nations Children's Fund has helped save and improve more children's lives than any other humanitarian organization. UNICEF won't stop until every child in the world is healthy, educated, protected, and respected. During children's time the kids will come around with special collection boxes, so please bring your extra change. After the service, we will have trick-or-treating in the fellowship hall. Please bring treats for the kids if you are so inclined.

Loaves and Fishes

Our faithful Loaves N Fishes crew had the opportunity to feed 159 carry-out meals for those in need at Church of Peace on Military Rd. on Sept. 16th. The meal consisted of scalloped potatoes and ham casserole, green beans, bread, bananas, cookies, and milk. All was greatly appreciated, and we were blest to be able to provide. A big THANK YOU to all who donated, cooked, baked, and served. Many blessings! Our next meal will be on November 8th!

Care Committee

At our last meeting, we discussed how our home visits could be improved. We divided our six members into three groups and chose who they would visit. The goal is to visit monthly. The pastor continues to make visits with a member of the committee for conversation, prayer, and communion. Please remember to call the office or a committee member if you have issues that the care committee could help you with.

UMM: United Methodist Men

The Men's group would like to thank all those who helped with our Saturday, Sept. 12th brat fry held at Pick N Save on West Johnson St. We also appreciated those who patronized our event. As the school season has started, we are once again supplying our 5 local schools with bananas. Darrell Jewson is instrumental in delivery duty. Your continued generosity and monetary help with this project is very much appreciated. Any projects that you may have in mind, please let anyone on the Men's group know.

UMM: Men's Group Announces New Local Mission Partner

The UM Men's Group announces a new grocery partner for its local school nutrition mission. Called the Banana Project, it weekly provides five elementary schools in the Fond du Lac School District with bananas for distribution to students by their teachers. Following a management change at a local grocer, the Project needed a new supplier. Stepping forward is Festival Foods, 1125 East Johnson Street, whose manager agreed to provide the bananas at their cost. "They were more than happy to do so," according to Darrell Jewson, project coordinator.

The banana distribution is already underway, with deliveries to the local elementary schools having the highest poverty rates in the district: Chegwin, Evans, Parkside, Pier, and Riverside schools. Mr. Jewson commented, "They were so excited to see us on the first day of school, September 1."

Despite the partnership with Festival Foods, the price of bananas has risen, such that the weekly 400 pounds of bananas cost $200. Fundraising events, individual donations, and grants fund the project.

And just a reminder that the HANGING OF THE GREENS in the Narthex, Sanctuary, and Fellowship Hall date has been set for November 15th with a chili soup Fellowship. Mark the DATE!

UWF: United Women in Faith

We welcomed members back to our fall meeting with a lesson on social justice and what we should attempt to do to make our community and world better for all. We proceeded with much business and plans for fall events. First in October we will hear a speaker from Hope on the Block sharing about that community project which we have supported. This is a potluck lunch meeting at noon. We voted to provide two warming shelter meals next winter, once in January and again in March. The soup supper plans were discussed for Oct. 27th and will be finalized at the October meeting. We will need all hands on deck to help with prep and serving. It has been requested that help is needed to serve and clean up after fellowship hour each Sunday. Volunteers can be anyone from the congregation and there will be a sign-up sheet in the narthex. PLEASE consider this as a way to help us continue fellowship hour weekly. Next meeting will be October 7th.

Mission Recognition Award

Every year on United Women in Faith Sunday, we recognize a member of the church for all that they do for our church. This year's recipient was Jan Andrews. Jan is a pillar in our church. Until we formed the Care committee, she was on the Care/Sunshine committee. She sent birthday, get well, and thinking of you cards to our members. For years, she collected and delivered donations to the Arc of Fond du Lac. She serves on Worship, Missions, Care, and Church Council. She is now running our weaving project. She is part of all three of our small groups. She enters our worship service data into Breeze on Mondays. She recruits and organizes our ushers, sings in the choir, and plays the bells. Honestly, what would we do without Jan Andrews?

Sara Circle: Reading Program

Our small group of dedicated readers (5) read 77 books and were recognized at the South East District meeting. I was asked to take on the Reading program several years ago. My first comment was, "But I don't read books." I did my best to encourage the women of Sara Circle to read. I recently discovered Libby, the library's audible books. I had some help downloading it to my phone, and I was ready to go. So far this year, I have read over 60 books, not all part of the reading program. I can "read" a book while baking, ironing, or even taking a shower. The reading program books have opened my eyes to many interesting topics. I will admit that some of them are heavy and hard to read. I would encourage everyone to consider reading. The books on the cart can be borrowed by anyone; all we ask is that you return them.

Many women recently have told me about the books they have read, again, not always a part of the reading program. I have read many of them, such as Theo of Golden and Remarkably Bright Creatures. Would anyone be interested in a small book club? We would not be under pressure to all read the same book, but just to share your recent book. Just a thought.
